On the Stanford test, calculators are optional for Math Problem Solving, but they are NOT allowed for Math Procedures (through Grade 8). Calculators are allowed on all TASK (high school) levels. On the Iowa Tests, calculators may be used for math subtests ONLY when permitted by the Directions for Administration. Calculators may be used only during the Mathematics Problem Solving sub-test. Calculators may not be used for the Mathematics Procedures sub-test. The following calculators and features are prohibited:

- pocket organizers, handheld or laptop computers, electronic writing pads, cell phones
- calculators built into cellular/mobile phones or other wireless communication devices
- calculators with a QWERTY keyboard (like a typewriter)
- calculators that make noise, such as a calculator with a paper tape or a talking calculator, or calculators that have power cords/USB cables (including TI-84)
- calculators with CAS (computer algebra systems) technology
- any electronic device that has scanning or camera functions
